The Macleay is designed around light, space and a sense of balance. A smartly zoned layout places the main bedroom privately apart, while the central living and dining area forms a bright, open heart where everyday life naturally comes together.

Large openings and long sightlines allow light and air to move easily through the home, creating a feeling of openness. A generous covered deck sits alongside the living area, offering a comfortable place to relax, entertain or simply enjoy the outlook.

With its clean architectural lines and thoughtful planning, the Macleay feels both refined and easy to live in, a family home that supports connection while still giving everyone room to breathe.
